The Sterican 27G x 1½ hypodermic needle is designed for precise and comfortable injections. Made from siliconized chromium-nickel steel, it features an advanced grind and ultra-smooth surface to minimize patient discomfort. The thin-wall technology increases the needle lumen, enhancing flow rate for efficient administration. Equipped with a Luer Lock tip made of durable polypropylene, it ensures secure attachment to syringes. Each needle is color-coded according to ISO 6009 for easy identification and is sterile-packed in paper-foil blisters, maintaining strict hygiene standards.
