Whether crossing a jungle river, evacuating a flooded house, crossing a canal in Iraq or negotiating melted water in the Arctic, water obstacles often pose a significant risk to the safety of both casualties and rescuers. Xtract™SR Afloat gives rescue teams a small, lightweight, viable solution.

The Xtract™SR Afloat is a compact casualty flotation product for rescuers who must cross a water obstacle in challenging environments. Xtract™SR Afloat can also be used as an insulating mattress to combat hypothermia and improve patient comfort.

As with all Xtract™SR System products, Xtract™SR Afloat minimises movement of both the casualty and treatment.

Provides solution to:

- Limited space & weight.
- Features to cross.
